CDC CANDIDATE STATEMENTS from Declarations filed by February 17, 2018 deadline

Brenda Bell President

My name is Brenda Bell and I'm running to be President of the California Democratic Council. I have the experience, dedication, and drive to lead CDC as we rebuild and prepare for the future. Currently, I serve as a Disaster Relief volunteer, Vice President of Democrats of Greater Riverside, CDC Trustee-South, and as appointed CDC Executive Vice President. I have served on the CDP Executive Board and as 3rd Vice Chair of my DCC.

For nearly a decade in CDC, I have worked hard to provide trainings and services to our clubs and Central Committees. It has been heartbreaking to see us flounder recently, and it has become painfully obvious that we need changes to our bylaws and strong leadership. My strategic plans include: 1) Revamping our training program, utilizing online tools and recreating our handbook into digital modules for clubs. 2) Improved local cooperation, training leaders to do professional outreach in their communities. 3) Effective fundraising, to give clubs essential materials such as union printed banners and EZ Ups.

I promise to work hard, build a team, mentor future leaders, and delegate duties as needed to best serve our clubs. Thank you, I hope I win your vote.

Hilary Crosby President

I'm Hilary Crosby, the immediate past Controller of the CDP. I chaired the finance committee, and launched the Donate Every Month (DEM) program promoting grass roots donations as a counter-weight to corporate political funding. I was also the fundraising trainer for the Learn To Win program. the CDC and several clubs and central committees. Now I'm running to be President of the CDC.

CDC historically provided clubs with tools to attract California voters to the Democratic family. Especially today, when so many voters have become disengaged from Democratic Party politics, building our clubs will build our strength.

I'm a member and have been president of the El Cerrito Democratic Club, which affiliated in the 60's. I was a charter member of Take Back Red California, and a representative to the CDC from my club. I remember helping the CDC at many training events, producing and attending CDC conventions, and being part of that reliable and exciting resource for clubs all across California. I worked with - and am endorsed by Henry and Lori Vandemeier.

To bring the CDC back to its historic effectiveness we need a strong team. I'm ready to roll up my sleeves and make that happen.

Andrew Bouley
Executive Vice President

Thanks so much for your consideration.

We live in a time where it is no longer acceptable for decent people to sit on the sidelines. For me, Democratic clubs are entry-level politics/activism. It is the easiest way to get involved, hit the ground running, and start working to make a difference. If elected, I would endeavor to grow involvement in the party to the best of my ability.

I currently live in West Los Angeles with my wife and cats. I'm a small business owner and am very active in the fight for Single Payer Health Care specifically as a speaker and organizer for SB562 working with healthy California, and healthcare for all Los Angeles.

I also try to be as active as I can be to support a multitude of other Progressive issues including Black Lives Matter, Fight for 15, Divest, Oil Money Out, SB 10, the Street Vendor Movement, and immigrant rights.

I should also note that I'm an associate member of LACDP, and currently Vice President of the Feel the Bern Democratic Club of LA County an organization where I, as a charter member, have played a key role in building the membership from 0 to 160 + members.

Richard Mathews
Executive Vice President

CDC has a long history of helping Democratic clubs and supporting progressive causes since the Vietnam War. I'm running to rebuild CDC as the progressive conscience of the party.

Like CDC, I have a long history of progressive activism. I marched to get us out of Vietnam and to boycott grapes for Cesar Chavez and the farmworkers. Later I served as the national lead researcher for impeaching George W. Bush. Now we must strategize how to get out from under Trump.

Rebuilding CDC needs to come from people who know the party structure. I'm a longstanding member of CDP's EBoard and Legislation Committee. I serve on LACDP's Rules Committee. I've chaired DPSFV's resolutions committee. I am president of North Valley Democratic Club.

We must have Medicare for All nationally and SB562 in CA.

I am currently circulating a resolution calling for strong action on guns including a ban on semi-automatics.

We must ban fracking and end new fossil-fuel infrastructure, including natural gas infrastructure. I have that track record as a board member of Save Porter Ranch, fighting for closing the Aliso natural gas facility following its major blowout.

We need public financing of campaigns.

Christopher Robson
Executive Vice President

I am running for the position of Executive Vice President. My current Chartered Club, YES WE CAN Long Beach, joined CDC in 2015. My former Chartered Club, the Camarillo Democratic Club, joined the CDC in 2005. I am currently the President of the Chartered YES WE CAN Democratic Club (2009-Present), Past-President, Camarillo Democratic Club, (2004-2007). I served as the area as Regional Organizing Lead for Hillary for Long Beach. Prior to the June 2016 Primary, Co-Lead of Long Beach Area for Bernie. I possess excellent communications and database management skills, and being retired, able to travel throughout the state to assist existing Clubs and recruit new ones. I believe I am well-qualified to serve as EVP. I meet all the California Democratic Party's non-discrimination, affirmative action and inclusiveness standards and I am an openly gay community activist, who at 73, is opposed to all forms of ageism.

As a proven leader in the most recent ADEM 70 election, and activist organizer with BLUE REVOLUTION CALIFORNIA, I offer established representation of my region within Los Angeles County and the state of California.

Brian Carolus
Secretary

My name is Brian Carolus, and I am proud to share that I am a native resident of California and have been a progressive member of the Democratic Party since first registering to vote at age 18. I have worked tirelessly as a volunteer and organizer on countless campaigns since that time, all the way from national presidential campaigns such as Obama's 2008 campaign and the Bernie campaign down to local campaigns affecting the Los Angeles area. One of the greatest honors of my life was being selected by Democratic voters in CA's 33rd congressional district to represent the 33rd as a state delegate to the 2016 Democratic National Convention for Bernie Sanders, and I am proud to have served and represented my home district in that capacity. I currently hold a position as the Executive Secretary on the Feel the Bern Democratic Club's Executive Board, in which I coordinate the needs of our club's membership and leadership and help oversee the monthly meetings of the club and oversight of the club itself.

To succeed, I believe our party needs significant internal reforms, improved community outreach, and must be unafraid to boldly embrace our FDR-progressive roots.

Salvador Cazarez
Secretary

Educator, Union Rep, Community Organizer

Sal Cazarez is a high school teacher and union member, of four years, in Visalia, California. He was born and raised in Tulare and is proud of his Mexican-American, Yokut, and Apache heritage. He received a BA in from Humboldt State University in Arcata, CA. At Humboldt, he studied history, focusing on social science secondary education. He received his master's degree in Social Science Teaching at Bard College, where he was able to study remotely and teach in Tulare County. Sal is an alternate member of the Tulare County Democratic Central Committee, was elected as a California Democratic Party Assembly District Delegate for AD 26 for 2017-2018 and was elected as the E-Board Representative 2017-18, and he is the secretary of the Stonewall Democrats.

Sal is committed to uniting progressives and protecting the marginalized, impoverished, and underprivileged.

Herb Engstrom
Treasurer

I am a native of San Francisco and was raised in the Bay Area. I attended the University of California at Berkeley earning a Ph.D. degree in physics. While a student, like Bernie Sanders, I was a member of the Young Peoples' Socialist League. I continue to defend political rights while working for economic rights. Between undergrad and grad school I served two and a half years in the Peace Corps teaching physics in Malaysia.

I had been CDC treasurer for about 10 years and complied with all requirements including filing campaign finance reports with the secretary of state. I had also been treasurer for 7 years with the Santa Clara County Democratic Club. I remain treasurer of the north Santa Clara County Democratic Volunteer Center which raised almost $93,000 for Democrats in the 2016 election period.

I had resigned as CDC treasurer in December because the state account was consistently overdrawn, and I felt I should no longer have to cover the overdrafts with my personal funds. With new CDC leadership I hope to resume these duties and help fulfill the CDC's mission of creating, supporting, and expanding Democratic clubs.

James Ta'bor II
Treasurer

Greetings this is James Tabor, a native Californian, Born in the high desert of Victorville, California on George Air Force Base. I am a proud resident of the 43rd District! I Am A Former Marine and Iraq war veteran, using that same passionate energy to fight for social justice, healthcare reform, Women rights, fair and affordable housing, and an highlighted issue of mine is keeping corporate money out of politics, clean money Candidates!

I am eager, young, bright and a sponge for information, ready to embrace all that encompasses the things necessary to be successful. I am extremely effective, discipline, and relentless on handling tasks that are put before me. I don't mind being held accountable for accountability is the very structure of the Democratic Party. I am accountable to my constituents in the 43rd district, I am accountable to my Democratic club, I am accountable to my family, accountable to God, and I will be accountable to you, in regards to getting the job done! Day one I plan to get work together with the President and Controller to restore proper financial oversight and openness for the organization! Thanks for your consideration!

Ryan Borunda
Controller

My name is Ryan T. Borunda and I am running for Controller because financial responsibility, accountability, and procedure are the building blocks for any successful Democratic organization.

I am a senior at the University of California - Riverside and I have been blessed enough to hold different financial positions in various Democratic organizations. Currently I serve as the Treasurer for the local College Democrats at UCR, the Chair of Finance for the regional Democrats of Greater Riverside, and as the alternate for Budget Chair of the national Young Democrats of America, Pacific Region. I also work alongside a supervisorial candidate, resulting in her outraising the Republican opponents in a red-leaning district this past quarter.

As a student of economics and computer science, I have shown the success of implementing modern financial and accounting techniques to the organizations I have worked with. My most successful innovation is merging computational power with existing budgets & records to reduce waste and improve financial efficacy in the organizations I work with. In addition to implementing this within CDC, I would also work expediently to deliver the union-printed materials to the clubs in need. Thank you, and join me in moving CDC forward, together.

Isabel Garcia
Controller

I am a progressive Democrat with a long history of grassroots community organizing, which I feel is an essential component that has been missing from the California Democratic Party. I grew up in Nicaragua where my political awareness began at a young age since this was the time in my country immediately after a tyrannical dictator had been forced out of power. I immigrated to the United States at 17 years old and have continued to fight for a government that is accountable to the people whom it represents by working as a community organizer and volunteering to elect progressive candidates for office. I joined the East Area Progressive Democrats last year and have become involved in collecting petitions for the SB 562, The Healthy California Act. I also participated in the 2017 California Democratic Convention as a proxy.

I am running for Controller of the California Democratic Council because I believe in fairness and transparency and as Controller I will work to bring clarity and stability to the CDC's finances and restore the organization to good fiscal health.

Margie Hoyt
VP, Bylaws & Rules

I am filing my candidacy for VP of Bylaws and Rules because it is clear we need to reinvigorate the electorate in our state. We can do that by rebuilding the California Democratic Council from the ground up. We need a functioning democracy and a way to grow it and I see the CDC as the way to do this by writing a new Constitution and Bylaws for the CDC to better reflect how we want our democracy to work and who it serves. We need fairness in the rules, fairness in representation, and fairness in the operations of the CDC. Let us in the CDC develop the model on the small scale what we wish to see on the large scale in our state legislature. And let us also work to build community-based majority constituencies in order to protect people and planet over profit.

Hector Huevo
VP, Communications

Hector currently serves as Treasurer for the East Area Progressive Democrats in Los Angeles and began his local activism hosting phone banks to elect Obama in Northeast L.A. That experience introduced him to local democratic clubs and encouraged him to later serve in the neighborhood council system as an advocate for affordable housing, equitable development and anti-displacement policies.

He went on to found the Alliance of River Communities, a grassroots coalition of 14 neighborhood councils along the L.A. River. Now, as both a State and County Central Committee member, Hector wants to help position the California Democratic Council as the recognized independent, pro-worker, pro-renter, pro-environment wing of the party structure.

His goals as Communications V.P. are to:

- Lift up the stories, fights and wins of local democratic clubs as contrast to how many may perceive the CA Democratic Party to be (a top-down organization)
- Earn increased media statewide to highlight “small-d” democratic values, even when our party doesn’t
- Help organize and empower local democratic clubs to go beyond politics as usual

Hector hopes to earn your vote and your help to tell the stories of everyday Democrats in communities across California.

Melodi Masaniai
VP, Communications

I commit to serving one term, only, as Vice President: Communications of the California Democratic Council (CDC). If you elect me, the CDC will have communications restored for: notices, newsletters, and other vital information. Your questions and concerns will never go unanswered again.

I will work with the Vice President for Credentials to redevelop a complete list of affiliates who should be receiving communications. 2018 is going to be a tough, but rewarding year, let's get to work and rebuild this organization of the clubs and for the clubs.

I ask you to please vote for me for Vice President: Communications of the new CDC. Thank you.

Margaret Okuzumi
VP, Credentials

Vote for Margaret Okuzumi for VP of Credentials if you want

An Experienced Club Leader:

- Co-founder of the Democratic Club of Sunnyvale in 2009
- Co-founder and current co-chair of the Bayshore Progressive Democrats in 2017

An Experienced Party Leader

- Currently the elected E-Board rep from AD 24 and an ADEM delegate for over a dozen years, beating her Assemblymember's slate four times;
- An elected delegate to the 2016 DNC Convention

An Experienced Activist

- Over two decades' experience working with nonprofits and all-volunteer groups, ballot measures and candidate campaigns primarily related to the environment and gun safety;
- Recipient of the Santa Clara County Democratic Party's prestigious Madge Overhouse Volunteer of the Year Award (2014) for her grassroots organizer efforts.

The Right Person for the Job

- A track record of organization and performance, as the main coordinator for the CA-to-northern Nevada canvass for Bernie Sanders, and as a statewide coordinator and trainer of the conveners for the Bernie 2016 DNC delegate caucuses;
- Attentive to detail and really good with spreadsheets;
- Passionate about helping others work effectively for progressive change and has worked to demystify the CDP and the endorsements process for newcomers.

Ron Birnbaum
VP, Finance

A lifelong Democrat, I won a DSCC seat at 51st ADEM in 2017, and then ran for the California Assembly in a special election, experiences which now drive my run for California Democrat Council's VP-Finance.

The Party at all levels has problems - unethical finance among them - and CDC can help address these. CDC focuses on the strengthening of clubs and County parties, organizations that should foster authentic grassroots engagement. Implicit in the CDC Purposes and explicit in its history is a progressive mission: seeing the disparity between the world as it is and should be and believing that ordinary human beings acting collectively through just processes can close that gap. A reinvigorated CDC can help the California Democratic Party realign with that same mission.

VP-Finance directs fundraising to fuel CDC operations. As a recent candidate for the Assembly, I know a lot about fundraising. We were the top fundraising campaign in the primary election and yet uniquely took not a dime of money from a corporation. I want to respectfully ask for your vote to bring that same strong, ethical leadership to CDC, so that it has the resources to fulfill its grassroots progressive mission.

Chris D'AlessandroVP, Issues and Political Action

Chris D'Alessandro is an environmental activist and fighter for civil rights. He currently serves the 53rd Assembly District in California as a Democratic Delegate. His passion is charged by his need to protect under-served communities and the voiceless in our society.

In the past, Chris worked with community activists to fight for and uphold the 2016 ban on plastic bags. This hard-fought battle required organization and communication with activist communities throughout California. He also works toward affecting progressive political change throughout California. As VP of Issues and Political Action, Chris will continue his fight in California. His immediate issues to address are: Medicare for all, tackling mental health issues, fighting against under-regulated pharmaceutical companies and ending homelessness in California.

We need to be a leader in the nation, but California is behind on issues like: ending the death penalty, advocating further for renewable energy policies, divesting from corrupt corporations in our state, advocating for strong gun regulations, regulating political financing, tamping down state-funded charter schools, and providing for the most vulnerable communities in our great state.

Lisa KatoVP, Issues and Political Action

The call was put out to for people to come help reenergize the CDC. And so that is why I'm running for Vice President of Issues and Political Action. I'm ready to help bring energy, ideas, organization, technical knowledge, and team building skills to help turn this council into the vital force that I know it can be.

At the core of an organization such as the California Democratic Council, I believe there needs to be a strong group of progressive professionals, bound together by personal ideals, a commitment to finding Solutions, and a commitment to communicating those ideals to stakeholders in our very large and diverse state.

Specifically, to Issues and Political Action, I'm ready to combine an understanding of the current issues with pertinent questions, analysis, and consensus building. I feel the time is right to re-ignite the fire that should form the core of the CDC. I think Democrats in California are ready for the leadership and opportunity to reconnect via a reenergized California Democratic Council.

In sum, I'm ready to help, and am looking forward to meeting and talking with you all in San Diego.

Andrea Beth Damsky
VP, Membership

As a founding member and current Vice President-External of San Diego Progressive Democratic Club, one of my projects has been member recruitment, retention, education, and activism. If elected as California Democratic Council Vice President of Membership, I would do these same activities for the CDC.

I was a "Super Volunteer" for Bernie Sanders' 2016 presidential campaign, and have worked on other electoral and issues-based campaigns for 45+ years. I currently serve on La Mesa's Environmental Sustainability Commission, am an alternate to San Diego County Democratic Party Central Committee, a member of California DSCC Central Committee and Executive Board, and a member of the CDP Credentials Committee. I do much behind-the-scenes work creating Progressive slates and supporting Progressive candidates in San Diego County.

Some personal info: I am a LGBT senior. My wife is a union ironworker and a Marine veteran. I am an acupuncturist and nutritionist with a small private practice. My political goals are to get big money and dark money out of our political system and reclaim our government and justice for all people.

Diana Aguirre
VP, Organization Development

In 2017, a few of us started a Democratic club in our community and I was appointed the President. Our club has been successful this past year for a few reasons. One is that we work well as a team and as a leader, I've managed to bring everyone's strength to the table to organize our club. Second, our meetings are well run. Again, this is attributable to bringing everyone's strengths to the table to provide the skill set to run an organized meeting. Thirdly, our club is a success because we listen to the wants of our members and implement the change.

Based on my experience with setting up a Democratic club & my career experience as a project director, this will help me succeed in this role. I'm well organized, an effective communicator & have a "Get it Done NOW" attitude and all of these traits are important to help with developing and creating a strong CDC. Thank you for your consideration.

Carrie Scoville
VP, Organizational Development

My name is Carrie Scoville and I am running for Vice President of Organizational Development.

Organizational Development represents the core of the CDC goal: to create new clubs and to support/grow existing clubs. Often clubs are left on their own, with members feeling adrift with little support or guidance. The CDC can fulfill the role of training and mentoring club leadership to be efficient, effective, open, and democratic. This is the way to convince members that the California Democratic Party continues to be worthy of their support. It is no longer enough just to register voters, we need to prove our relevance and retain trust in order to win elections. That happens at the club level where the voters are.

As Vice President of Organizational Development, I will support chartering new clubs as well as ensuring the CDC remains a strong and effective body. My qualifications are being a CADEM delegate since 2009, President of the San Pedro Democratic Club where I have been a member since 2006, and a prior CDC delegate. I support transparency, accessibility, and accountability in governance. I would be honored to have your vote.

Christopher Myers
VP, Resolutions

We need a refresh.

We have the resources to empower grassroots organizations to leverage more influence on the state level but in order to make this happen, direction and training is required.

As a Deaf Democrat, my experiences serving on the city, county, and state level have equipped me with the skills to bridge the accessibility gaps that currently exist. Technology is part of the answer and something I have grown up relying on and been able to equip others to use to their benefit.

As VP of Resolutions, I will:

- Restructure our resolutions process to be accessible, transparent, and easy to understand.
- Publicize our resolutions in a timely manner that allows for the most exposure.
- Provide training and resources to all organizations in writing and passing resolutions.
- Advocate for our resolutions on the state level.

With my skills, experience, ability to work with others, and a powerful team alongside me, you can trust that I'll make sure the California Democratic Council becomes the powerhouse that once tremendously effected positive change in our state, nation, and the world beyond. Thank you for your vote,
Christopher Myers

Susan McCall Carrasco
Trustee, Central Region

I am a Central Valley grassroots activist, and Dem Club builder; most recently one of the co-founders of the CA Latina Democrats - Fresno County. I am one of the AD23 elected Delegates, a member of 7+ Dem Clubs throughout the Central Valley, an alternate on our Fresno County Dem Central Committee, one of the 2018 Fresno Women's March organizers who built the Speakers Forum of 18 amazing Central Valley Women, many with national standing.

The CDC has an important and long standing historical position as the support resources for grassroots activist club building, and it is time for a reset. As a successful former Executive Recruiter, I have been seeking out best practices and sourcing to encourage grassroots activists how to organize, engage, listen, educate, motivate and leverage skills to build organizations, ground games, building their bench of future candidates, and leveraging their spheres of influence.

As your Trustee - Central Region, I will bring your CDC resources and my experience as a Dem Club builder, keeping your team up to date on CDC resources and available trainings. It is time for the Central Region to have an activist presence, and I am asking for your Vote.

Vincent Casalaina
Trustee, Northern Region

There is no question that California is Blue, but what shade of Blue are we and what do we stand for? Here's what I see.

It is our responsibility to do everything we can to keep California from being overwhelmed by the policies coming from Washington. California is a beacon of hope for those who see four years of scorched earth in their future. California is the example of how progressive policies can lead to growth and prosperity for all of our people. As a Council, we need to do a much better job of getting that message out.

I've previously served as Northern Vice Chair for the Progressive Caucus, traveling throughout Northern California meeting with Democratic clubs from Grass Valley to Paradise Ridge and from Marin County to Morgan Hill discussing issues that energize the grassroots. I've written articles that appeared in the Caucus newsletter about our need for more affordable housing and in support of the environmental bills passed in the last legislative cycle.

As your Trustee North I commit to bringing California Democratic Council issues to local clubs across Northern California.

Kristal Edwards-Jones
Trustee, Northern Region

My name is Kristal Edwards-Jones. I ask for your vote to serve as Trustee, Northern Region.

PERSONAL BACKGROUND AND POLITICAL EXPERIENCE-Professional Librarian with Master's degrees in History and Library/Information Science, working in knowledge management and data analytics. Over 25 years as a grassroots activist and fundraiser for healthcare, workers and immigrant rights, and ending violence against women. Deputy Convener for 2016 CD3 DNC Delegate Caucus; 2017 AD4 Delegate; President, Bemiecrats-Labor Alliance of Yolo County; and proud member of the Labor Council for Latin American Advancement - Sacramento (AFL-CIO) and SEIU 1000. Regularly table at the local farmers market in support of issues of concern to constituents and community: fair and equal treatment for all families and communities of color, LGBTQIA, and immigrant.

HOW I CAN SERVE-I am trained in and have experience auditing information services and systems and in writing and reviewing program budgets. Very competent in Excel, I regularly assist groups and individuals in managing qualitative and quantitative data, creating user-friendly, verifiable spreadsheets that can be used for data analysis and business intelligence.

GOAL-Through competent and comprehensive review and strategic planning of the CDC, we will empower our communities and clubs and reinvigorate the Democratic party.
